Washington, D. C.,

Entered at the Postoffice at Washington, D. C.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 23, 1884.

THE Reagan interstate commerce bill is not meeting with special favor anycratic majority of the house. The press generally denounce it as crude, cranky, and thoroughly unwise. It is safe to say it will not pass the sonate without ma-

Tanovan the resignation of Mr. Henry D. Lyman, second assistant postmaster general, the public service loses a faithful and efficient official. He attained the high position he has just laid down by successive steps of promotion, beginning with a low grade clerkship. It is safe to predict that the same qualities that won him his recognition in the government service will also win him a high measure of success in civil life.

THE house has passed a bill authorizing postmasters to forward newspapers, packages, and all second, third, and fourth class matter, on which the postage has once been paid, from one postoffice to another at the request of the party addressed, without any charge for such forwarding. This would place all postoffice matter on the same basis as letters, and is a step in the right direction. As is passed the house without objection, the senate should not be backward in considering it.

THE democrats in Washington from Indiana, including Senator Voorhees and themembers of the house, are unanimously in favor of, first, giving Indiana a cabinet place; and, second, giving that place to McDonald. If they represent the sentiment of all Indiana democrats, Mr. Hendricks will find it expedient to have Gov. Cleveland ignore the Hoosier state in making up his constitutional advisers. In no other way can he again successfully stand in the way of McDonald's political advancement.

THE democracy is not learning from its political success any more than it recoived instruction from its repeated defeats. It still remains the party of obstruction. Its position on the naval bill is one step backward of what it was last session. The house now not only opposes the senate bill for the increase of the navy, but it repudiates its own bill passed at the previous session. If this be the foundation of the proud record it is to make as governing party what will the superstructure be?

Missouri is likely to lose what little chance she ever had of a cabinet position in the next administration, owing to the uncertainty of her geographical position. She is not sufficiently a southern state to get one of the two places allotted to that section, and not enough of a western state to come in under the western assignment. Some of her politicians are anxious for congressional interference at this session to more clearly define her geographical status. This seems to be necessary if she is to enjoy ber share of democratic patronage. For position, as being neither south or west, why not out of other crumbs of comfort?

It points out that Chicago is as near to nearer, and urges Dakota to serve notice immediately that her self-respect will not permit her to deal commercially with merchants to favor, irrespective of party affiliations, the admission of a territory whose growth and prosperity extends their own business interests.

THE Philadelphia Times makes a careful analysis of the Pennsylvania legislature on the senatorial question, and comes to the conclusion that Senator Cameron will be his own successor. It divides the republican membership of the legislaturo as follows: Cameron 121, anti-Cameron 51, and states that the bolters of the senatorial caucus will not exceed 6. The Times says that its estimate of anti-Cameron strength is most liberal, as there are included in the 51 some who are claimed to be pledged to Cameron, and others who are known to prefer him, but who may vote against him in caucus to satisfy some local sentiment. But should

There is a possible chance that Jeff Davis may acquire a valid claim against In 1848 congress the United States. passed a law granting three months' extra pay to officers and soldiers of the Mexican This was amended in 1879 to include those who remained in the service in the regular army after the close of the war. The claims of those embraced in the amendment have never been paid. of the Mississippi Rifles under the original act of 1848. At that time, and for more than twenty years afterward, the renuncration of an officer consisted of pay proper and allowances of various kinds. A captain of cavalry, for Jeff Davis drew his extra pay as colonel example, received $50 per month pay proper, $24 for rations, $16 for forage, and $\frac{1}{3}$ for servant's pay, clothing, and rations, making his total monthly compensation $105.50. He was also entitled to an additional ration ($5 per month) for every five years' service as an efficar. The point is now raised, that as the acts of 1818 and 1870 do not contain the words "pay proper," the word "pay" must be construed to mean both pay proper and allowances. The difference between Jeff will sustain it." Philadelphia Rem. $16.50 for servant's pay, clothing, and allowances. The difference between Jeff Davis's pay proper for three months' as a colonel in the Mexican war and his full pay and allowances would be just $270. If the courts sustain the point the head of the late confederacy can make claim for this amount, as the claims of the confederates under these acts are just as valid as those

Let Factional Contests Cease. The President's friends are quite angry with Chairman Jones for his plain talk of Mr. Ar-thur's studied indifference to the fate of the ticket during the late campaign. The Press is not aiding the republican the party expects to put itself in condition to whip the democracy in coming political contests, the sooner its leaders and journals cease to charge one another with the responsibility of the late defeat the better. It is quite certain we are beaten, and are soon to take our place as a minority party, and it is equally cortain that we shall not inspire confidence in ourselves nor enlist recruits by waging factional warfare. The efforts of such papers as the Press should be devoted to strengthening rather than weakening the party. We have no votes to lose, and we shall lose if we continue to train our guns upon each other instead of the common enemy The republican party has a higher mission than quarreling over the mistakes or misunderstandings of an unsuccessful campaign. If it has not its power and influence will soon cease, and it will find itself in the condition of the bourbon democrats for twenty years, just formidable enough for a minority, but not numerous enough to attain a majority.

THE NATIONAL THEATER.

Nearly three hours of very good fun was enjoyed by the audience at the National theater last night in following the fortunes and mis-fortunes of "The Private Secretary." The piece is a rearing farce, made up of incidents not at all novel, and presenting characters with which the public are by no means unfamiliar. There is a gay young gentleman, in debt, who possesses that blessing in disguise frequently encountered on the stage, a rich uncle from India; there is an idiotic young clergyman of ungainly exterior; there is the highly-improbable, inscible, and explosive rich uncle; there are some pretty girls and a number of more or less interesting and amusing lay figures necessary to keep up the ac-tion. These go through a series of charminglyimprobable but none the less laughable adven-tures, and some of them exhibit an unusual number of very pronounced indiosyncracles of speech and manner that serve as appetizing side dishes to the comic piece de resistance. Mr. Charles Coote was highly ridiculous as the didotic elergyman with chronic influenza, Mr. M. A. Kennedy made a most refreshing rich and irascible, but withal jolly. East Indian uncle; Mr. Al Lipman was only moderately successful as his uncle's nephew, while Mr. J. G. Saville carried out the offensively English conception of the aspiring tailor very well. Miss Henrietta Crosman as Edith and Miss May Gallagher as Eva were of course exceedingly bright, lively, and pretty. The remainder of the cast was respectable, though it should be said the company did not work together at times with the smoothness which usually characterise those sent out by the Madison Square. "The Frivate Scoretary" supplies a very refreshing avening's entertainment, and will run through the week.

ALBAUGH'S GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

The first presentation of "Youth" attracted a fair audience to this theater last evening. The play is perhaps the best melodrama to-day upon the boards, and is the best mounted, both seems to be necessary if she is to enjoy in scenery and costumes, yet produced in ber share of democratic patronage. For if she can be thus ruled out of a cabinet of the life of a young Englishman, an officer position, as being neither south or west, character which was most ably sustained by THE Minneapolis Tribane calls upon the people of Dakota to boycott the merlatter publicly rebuke the action of Sens.

Most of the scenic effects are novelties, and among these may be mentioned the boating cottage on the Upper Tames, with its marvel-ous up-curtain change; the embarkation scene, with its military display and the sailing of the huge troop-ship, and the intrenchments and battle in the Knyber Pass. In these two last scenes the presence of a company of United States regular soldiers and a military band lends a finish that makes them thoroughly realistie. "Youth" will hold the boards at 'Albaugh's throughout the week, with the usu Wednesday and Saturday matinees, and a grand extra Christmas matinee on Thursday. Its success here is a foregone conclusion.

FORD'S OPERA HOUSE.

A rather free adaptation of Offenbach's
"Fille du Tambour Major" was given at this theater last night by the Carleton Opera company, with Miss Dora Wiley in the title role The company is strong in artists of uniform satisfy some local scutiment. The action of the opera gives frequent opportunities for a change of costume on the part of both principals and chorus, and these were in every instance beau-tiful and appropriate. The easte was as fol-lows: Miss Dora Wiley as Stella, Miss Clara Wisdom as the Duchess Della Volta, Miss Rosa Beaudot as Ciaudine, Miss Jessie Bartlett Davis as Griolet, Mr. W. H. Clark as Monthabor, the Drum stajor; Mr. Riebard Golden and his consipresent snuff-box as the Duc Della Volta, night the "Mascot" will be given by the same artists, with the addition of Mr. Gustave Adolphi as Lorouzo.

Herzeg's Museum.

Herzeg's Museum.

There was a large audience in attendance at the opening of Lancoh hall in its new character tast night. The hall looked well, and those who were present testified in the most vigorous manner their pleasure at the varied and excellent entertainment offered. Jennie Kimball's Opera company rendered the ever popular "Mascot" in really good style, and the appearance of the famous midgets between the acts was a pleasing incident which drew forth fresh applaine. The new scenery from the brush of Mr. James Lamb enabled the management to present the opera with appropriate setting. There will be afternoon and evening performances at the museum herestler.

The Theatre Comique. The management of this house has certainly surpassed all prior efforts this week in the presentation of the Ida Siddon's troupe to this CURRENT COMMENT.

The Particulars Sustain It.

The Democrats Caught.

Congressman Reagan would never have introduced his interstate commerce bill had he imagined that it stood any chance of being loaded with such an amendment as passed the house of representatives Tuesday. This amendment was introduced by Mr. O'Hara, a bright mulatto member from North Carolina, and provides that there shall be no discrimination in favor of or against persons helding the same kind of tickets or paying the same rate of fare for transportation over railroads. The democrats were caught.—Hoston Transcript (Ind.)

The confessed animus and intent of the democrats in the house give the lie direct to all pretensions of reform put forward by that party in recent campaigns.—

Citron being unusually high this year we have concluded to modify the fax on our customers on this article by seiling it without a profit. Zanice Currants and Layer Figs are very fine and faw in price. Our supply is large, so pitch in; It won't cost much.

NUTS-

Genuine Princess Paper Shell Almonds. Genuine Lauguadu Almonds. Shelled Almonds. Genuine Naples Walnuts. French Walnuts New Brazil Nuts. Large Filberts. Best Pecan Nuis. Shell Bark Hickory Nuis to arrive soon

Commenting on this line of goods, we have simply to say that we are satisfied that the day has fully arrived when consumers are tired of obtaining a large QUANTITY of Nuts for a dollar, at the sacrifice of QUALITY, and to this end we have spared no pains in securing the finest grades of each kind that money can buy. Still, at the same time, our prices are RE-MARKABLY REASONABLE.

SPECIALTIES-

Sweet Cider, Pop Corn, Pium Pudding, Home-Made Mince Meat, Stem-Cut Florida Oranges, Vermont Dairy Butter, in small white wood palls; Pure Vermont Maple Sugar, from cold Storage; Pure Vermont Maple Strup, in full gallon scaled cans; Elegant Tomatoes, in glass, cheaper than elsewhere; California Raisins, in fancy cartions, to tickie our American pride; California Evaporated Apricots, Piums, and Prunes.

JAVA COFFEE-

Under this head WE SHOUT. We have as fine an article of OLD GOVERNMENT JAVA as can be produced, and the price is only 30 cents, reasted. Then our GEN-UNE OLD MANDHELING, watch we are selling at 33 cents, reasted, is readily conceded by all to far surpass even the old and popular combination of MOCHA and JAVA, having great "body," and at the same time very amouth and rich in flavor. OTHER GOODS-

We have numerous other attractive line of goods to talk about and show you when
